

Flood Mitigation Specialist (2 positions)

Division: Agriculture Services & Economic Development

Unit: Economic Development

Location: Moose Jaw or Saskatoon, SK

Hourly Wage: $39.31 - $49.16 (Classification 9)

Competition Number: WSA-35-2024/25 – Permanent

Competition Number: WSA-36-2024/25 – Term (3 ½ yrs)

The Water Security Agency is seeking two Flood Mitigation Specialists to join the Economic Development team.

Reporting to the Director, Economic Development, an employee in this position will provide project management services on WSA flood mapping initiatives as well as other flood and drought mitigation and water related hazard identification and risk assessment studies and assignments.

In addition, the employee will apply subject matter expertise in the development and implementation of survey plans, data management plans, GIS applications, computer modeling and extension and outreach plans.

The work of this employee involves complex and enduring projects and requires the development and implementation of ongoing programming. Strong writing and editing skills are required to create technical and professional-level policies and protocols, reports and memorandums.

The job requires strong communication, facilitation, presentation and mediation skills for leading collaborative forums within WSA and with other federal, provincial and municipal government agencies and the public.

This employee will also participate in flood mapping and flood mitigation projects, as well as troubleshooting issues through various communications to clients, industry partners, and colleagues and to keep them informed on the results and status of projects.

The successful candidate will have a degree in Natural or Environmental Sciences, Engineering, or Public Administration or a similar discipline with a background in engineering technology, environmental studies, project management and public relations; or an equivalent combination of experience and training. A Project Management Professional (PMP) is preferred.

This role is subject to a satisfactory criminal record check.
